

Tools for the investigation of substructural and paraconsistent logics

Agata Ciabattoni

We describe a method to define Gentzen-style calculi for large classes of logics. For the case studies of substructural and paraconsistent logics the introduced calculi are used to prove various properties in a uniform and automated way.